

Acknowledgments

The third edition of the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP) Users' Guide was prepared for the U.S. Census Bureau by Westat. Charles T. Nelson was the Government Project Officer for the project within the Census Bureau, and Pat Doyle also provided invaluable support and guidance to the effort. Many other staff from a number of divisions within the Census Bureau shared their expertise and provided useful comments. In particular, we would like to thank Patrick Benton, John Boies, Judith Hubbard Eargle, Donald Keathly, Karen Ellen King, Gordon Lester, Stephen Mack, Mike McMahon, Thomas Palumbo, Donna Riccini, and Mahdi Sundukchi.

Chapters of the third edition were prepared by Louis Rizzo, Marianne Winglee, Alan Martinson, and Ilene France of Westat; Larry Radbill of Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.; Julie Sykes (then of Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.); and Elizabeth Sheley (Independent Consultant). Alan Martinson, Marty Franklin, Laurie Tomasino, and Carol Dominique of Westat provided editorial and production support; Julie Phillips (Independent Consultant) prepared the Index; and Ana Horton of Westat designed the cover. Garrett Moran served as the Westat Project Director.

Because this edition of the Users' Guide builds on the previous editions, we also include the following acknowledgments, which appeared in the second edition.

The first edition of the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP) Users' Guide was prepared by Daniel Kasprzyk (then Office of the Director), Pat Doyle (Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.), Arnold Goldstein (Population Division), Patricia Kelly (Office of the Director), and David B. McMillen (then Office of the Director).

The second edition was prepared by the Data Access and Use Staff of the Data User Services Division. Geneva Burns coordinated the effort, assisted by Jackson Morton and J. Paul Wyatt. Andrea Meier of the Survey of Income and Program Participation Branch in the Statistical Methods Division prepared Chapter 8, "SIPP Cross-Sectional Weighting Procedures," under the direction of Rajendra P. Singh. We would like to thank our colleagues within the Census Bureau and our SIPP file users for their helpful comments.
